INTRODUCING

SUPER FUN!

The 'in-my-pants' Game!

WHAT'S IN YR PANTS?!

I WONDER WHAT'S IN THESE SKINNY EMOPANTS...

All right Kiddies! When you're über bored at lunch because the only other possible location to go to other than the cafeteria would be a Subway, head on over to your school library for some PG-13 rated fun! It's called the 'IN MY PANTS' game and it is extremely fun and strangely addictive! You'll all be champs in no time!

HERE'S HOW TO PLAY:

- grab some friends. preferably more than 1.
- head to a library
- look at the book titles. Now add 'in-my-pants' to the end of it.
- the person with the funniest/best title wins!

EXAMPLES: (for the lame-o's who don't get it!)
(add in-my-pants to the end!) ^{THESE ARE REAL BOOKS!}

IT'S EASIER THAN PIG LATIN! YAY!

O THE GERMS!

↑ GERMS
BURN

WHEN HE WAS BLOND...

THAT'S A SHOE.

SING IT, DARBY!

Like Operation Ivy, The Sex Pistols, and probably a lot more than I can think of right now, The Germs only released one album. And yet, THEY ARE KILLER! Seriously. You hear 'Lexicon Devil' and your brain says to you 'OH MY GOOD! WHAT IS THIS?! THIS IS THE CRAZIEST THING I'VE EVER HEARD!' Basically.

The Germs got started in the mid-70's when punk RAWK! was first thunderin' through Los Angeles. Darby Crash (yeah, that's right! Infamous gay junkie!) and his BFF L Pat Smear allegedly started the band by putting up an ad for '2 untalented female musicians'. Apparently, this was a good strategy because who did they receive but the future Lorna Doom, QUEEN OF BASS!

Originally called 'Sophistifuck and the Revlon Spam Queens', they later became 'The Germs' because their 1st idea was too expensive to get printed on to t-shirts. YAY! (HEAP-O'S!)

Darby had the genius idea of starting a band with no clue what they were doing and yet, soldiered on. Example: their first single 'Farming'. Listened to today, it sounds like it was recorded in a garbage can. And yet, it is brilliant.

They were notorious for being completely insane live performers. The Germs were banned from nearly every club in L.A! Listen up, kiddies: that's what happens when yr high, drunk, and in the middle of barfing during all of your sets!

After The Germs broke up after their grand total of 1 record, Pat 'n' Darby started 'The Darby Crash Band'. And it totally sucked. Like in a bad way.

Darby committed suicide on Dec. 17th, 1980 at the tender age of 22. Remember: this was the guy who got kicked out of school for attempting to use mind control on his fellow students. Sadly, his death went practically unnoticed thnx to the assassination of the guy from that rilly famous band the next day. Poor guy! Goes off and dies and STILL can't get no respect!

The rest of the former Germs members continued w/ life. Pat Smear became a member of both Nirvana and the Foo Fighters. (Yeah. Wait-WHAT?!)

Fast forward 30-odd years and you have the GERMS biopic 'What We Do is Secret'. It is surprisingly good, if you can stomach the awful introduction. However, I have MAD beef with this movie. Mainly due to the fact that Shane West plays Darby. THIS GUY PLAYED MANDY MOORE'S BOY FRIEND IN 'A WALK TO REMEMBER'. I had to watch that in religion class. GEEZ!

However, the Germs will rule 4EVA! Fact of life! Like jealousy. Or herpes.

BUT WHAT WERE THEIR REAL NAMES?
♥ a handy chart ♥
DARBY CRASH... JAN PAUL BEAHM
PAT SMEAR... GEORGE RUTHERBURG
LORNA DOOM... TERRI RYAN
DOTTIE DANGER... BELINDA CARLISLE
(yeah that's right future Go-Go's person her real last name was KURCZESKI!)

SAY YES! TO THE DRESS:♡ BIG BLISS!

a rant

Okay, so don't get me wrong, I love TLC as much as the next living person with cable. All the zany 'lifestyle' shows combined with the grossest medical cases known to mankind? Yo, I can marathon 'Toddlers and Tiaras', 'Tree Man' AND 'Hoarders!' Diversity is something I love about The Learning Channel. But what happens when diversity goes WRONG?

This is precisely what S.Y.T.T.D B.B is all about. They round up all the fatties that couldn't go on the normal S.Y.T.T.D, and give em' their own show. THIS IS HORRIBLE! I want all the drama that comes with the interaction of ALL sizes!

It would be waay more exciting if some skinny girl and an obese chick got into mad beef over a veil in the foyer or something. But, alas! No we must separate the sizes! Because that's what the world is like. NOT! So, TLC, please being so dawgum size-ist (real word?) or else I'll switch to Slice. They have Project Runway!

MOVIE OF THE MONTH:

TROLL 2

YUM!

7 GRANDPA JETH! If he was my grandpa, I would poo my pants!

JOSHUA! YOU HAVE 30 SECONDS...

Actually Dear ol' Josh, you have like 3 minutes. To piss on hospitality of course!

If you've never seen the best/worst/ but mostly best movie of all time, you've at least heard of it. The 'OH MY GOOD!' meme? Yeah, you know it. And you love it!

Troll 2 was filmed during the late 1980's in Utah as a sequel to the movie 'Troll.' There isn't even 1 troll in the whole thing! But there plenty of vegetarian goblins! Ya see, they take humans & turn them into vegetables. So while they missed the boat on the whole 'ethical vegetarian' thing, the goblins are the best part of the movie.

A) Only one of them has the ability to talk. They rest are a bunch o' mutes!

B) They're costumes consist of a hideous latex mask creation and some flowing, burlap robes.

C) YOU CAN'T TOP BURLAP ROBES!!!

And the queen goblin totally powns em' all! This is the only move I've ever seen where popcorn is a cause of death in an instance other than choking. Case in point: She kills someone by seducing them and then drowning them in kernels. YEAH!

The real plot of the story is as follows: Joshua + his family (his dad is played by real-life dentist GEORGE HARDY!) partake in a 'Wife/House-Swap' kind of deal. They go to spend some quality time bonding in the town of Nilbog. (Um, yeah. Even lil' Joshua clues in when he sees the town sign reversed in the mirror of a nearby parked car. He then shouts 'THIS IS THEIR KINGDOM!!')

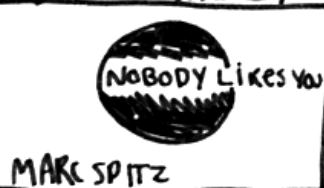

Spooky things start to happen. The floating ghost head of Josh's grandpa Seth often makes several creepy-ass cameos (much to my delight) often to warn Joshua about the antics of the evil trolls goblins. So: SPOILER ALERT: they defeat the goblins using the following: the Stonehenge magic Stone, a bologna sandwich, and concentration. But THEN (aw shucks!) the goblins eat his mom (I hate it when evil trolls goblins do that!)

The director still insists to this day that he made a fine, quality film. Oh man, what it must be like to be that guy! SCARY THOUGHTS!

P.S - WHAT THE HELL HAPPENED TO ARNOLD?! I ♥ TROLLS! GOBLINS!

'I CARE, THEREFORE I CRITIQUE'

Nobody Likes You by: Marc Spitz

This unfortunately named Green Day bio is actually pretty good. However, as with any snobby non-fiction rock bio EVER, there is way too much self-hype. Marc Spitz sounds like he wants to marry Billie Joe the entire book. It's annoying. I actually like Green Day. Okay, not 'American idiot on ice!' or anything but Kerplunk! will be my jam for life! Everyone should stop making fun of Green Day. It hurts my heart. 6/10

Girl Zines by: Allison Piepmeier

Do you like zines? Do you like big words? Well, this book is chock full of em! This is a very cool study of girl zines and their impact. It's full of footnotes too! FUN! Allison Piepmeier was also the co-editor of 'Catching a Wave' which has a good collection of essays. It even has a Buffy The Vampire Slayer (or slayer of vampires... ANDREW!) You should read this. And that too. Yeah... I have a lot of spare time... I liked this book 2! 10/10

Peach Berserk Silkscreen Now! by: Kingi Carpenter

Yay D.I.Y craft books! If you have a lot of $ and don't know what to do with it, you should just buy a crapload of emulsion and silkscreen the pants outta yr entire house! For those unfamiliar with PB, it's a supa rad silkscreen boutique place in the big T.O. Seriously. They have killer clothes and prints that make my heart break because I didn't think of them first. It even comes with a bonus instructional DVD! Edutainment! 8/10
COOLNESS! ★

Operation Ivy - Energy

Who's up for a ska party/skankin' ball of political fun? opIvy was the original (and BETTER!) Rancid, with both Matt Freeman on bass and Tim Armstrong on guitar. However opIvy rules 4eva not only because it will make you skank like a funky party weasel but because of lead singer Jesse Michaels, who has since become a Buddhist or something. RAP! Sadly, they were dumb and broke up after one INSANELY UNDERATED ALBUM! Best songs: ALL OF EM'!!!!!! 9/10

Except 'Bad Town'. That song blows!

Peaches - The Teaches of Peaches

I have a soft spot in my heart/brain for hipster/indie/electroclash/groovy beats. Thankfully, 'The Teaches of Peaches' nicely satisfies this criteria. Kind of repetitive (isn't it all?), but TOO MUCH FUN for dancing purposes! Also, a good soundtrack to clean the bathroom too. This is hardly a bad thing. Give me this album and some Lysol and no germs have any shot at surviving when I'm scrubbing the toilet and rocking out to 'Loveritts'. Best songs: 'set it off', 'AA XXX', 'Rock Show' 7/10

Germ Attack - CruXshadow

I bought this 2 months ago and it's an absolute killer! The day I got it, I listened to it 3 times. AND THEY'RE FROM OTTAWA TOO! Whaat?! I thought this town was only filled with wacky powerpop hipsters (not that there's anything wrong with that...) Seriously. Go steal $12 and buy this. It's only $12! Jesus, I love punk pricing! The lead singer even resembles a certain notorious punk junkie who stabbed his girlfriend (you know the one!) 9/10

Best songs: 'Life in Exile', 'Easily Sedated'
